Food Store Planned For Palmer Square

Some type of grocery store will be included in the Hulfish North section of the new Palmer Square development, according to the Square's marketing director, Claudette de Clairville.

She said that two people are currently being talked to about operating such a store, "but it won't work unless we can use basement space." She is also awaiting clarification from the Borough on how the store's basement could be used.

The basement is important because the store would feature prepared ready-to-serve and ready-to-cook foods. These would be cooked and assembled in the basement space, with the upper level used solely for the retail operation.

Cost is a factor. "Food stores have a low profit

Library Seeks $100,000 from Council To Finance Phase I of Computerization

True to their word, representatives of the Public Library appeared last week before Borough Council to ask for $100,000 to finance Phase One of a new circulation system.

The request was never actually presented to Council during the meeting. However, Library Board President Jan Stonaker confirmed that — had there been the opportunity — Council would have been asked to come up with its one-third of the $100,000. (Township Committee had previously been asked for its two-thirds share. The library is financed one-third by the Borough and two-thirds by the Township, a ratio based on population.)

Mrs. Stonaker said that a formal request for the amount will be made in September. "But we don't like to dump these things in the laps of Council and Committee. We wanted to just let them know so they can find out where they can get the funds."

She recalled that at the January budget hearings — during which the library presented its plans for a computerized circulation system that might cost as much as $485,000 — the library was told that the capital budget could be amended during the year.

Library officials were asked to return with more information on the plan later in the year — which is what they have done, and will do again in September.

This first $100,000 would be used to convert patron information and information on the library's 120,000 volumes into machine readable form. It is expected to take several months. After conversion is completed, the installation of a new system would take at least 13 months.

The library wants to replace its current book borrowing system, which has been in operation for 20 years. This creates a

Pike, Sigmund List Objections To State's Plans for 3 Bridges

The mayors of Borough and Township sent a joint letter to the state Department of Transportation last week.

Addressed to DOT Commissioner Roger Bodman and written after a special meeting between Borough and Township officials and DOT staff members, the letter sets forth specific objections to certain proposed improvements to three Princeton bridges and suggests some alternatives. The three bridges are the Harrison Street bridge, the Route 206 bridge over Stony Brook, and the Route 27 bridge over Harry's Brook.

1791 and is surrounded on both sides by historic properties. The mayors point to the "extremely successful rehabilitation" of the historic Mercer Road bridge by Mercer County several years ago, when a "bridge within a bridge" was constructed which adequately bolstered the Mercer Road bridge while preserving its historic character.

The N.J. DOT is presently proposing to employ the services of a consultant to study the feasibility of

The letter treats each bridge separately. In the first section, Township Mayor Winthrop S. Pike and Borough Mayor Barbara B. Sigmund "reiterate officially the interest of the Princeton community [in limiting] the reconstruction (if necessary) of the Harrison Street bridge to two 12-foot roadways and one 8-foot elevated sidewalk."

The mayors say they recognize that the present 17-foot 6-inch width is "probably inadequate." However, they add that any widening of the bridge would require widening of Harrison Street beyond its present 30-foot width. There is some support in the Township at least, expressed at Monday's Township Committee meeting, for two 15-foot lanes and the elevated sidewalk.

In addition, the mayors recommend that the gas line which traverses the bridge should be relocated when the bridge is reconstructed. Mayor Pike has often called attention to the danger should the line be accidentally ruptured.

The letter goes on to "object vehemently to any proposed replacement" of the Route 206 bridge over Stony Brook, which was built in margin," noted Ms. de Clairville. "We have to balance this against rents."

HOLDUP SUSPECT: This is a police composite of the black male suspect sought by Borough police in the armed robbery June 27 of the Wine and Game Shop liquor store on Nassau Street. The suspect was armed with a handgun and assaulted a store clerk before escaping with approximately $90 from a cash register. At the time of the robbery he had on sunglasses and was dressed in tan pants, tan jacket and a yellow T-shirt with red lettering. Anyone with any information is urged to call Det. James Agins or Sgt. Gerald Patterson at 924-4141.

She envisions a 5,000-square-foot store, plus basement space. This is just under the size of the present Davidson's store. The projected move of Davidson's next year to the east end of Nassau Street would create an even further distance between residents of Palmer Square and a grocery store.

Ms. de Clairville said she doesn't feel confident about putting a fifties-type supermarket in Palmer Square. She is seeking a store that will respond to the needs of dual income families and would offer delivery as well as a full array of groceries and other goods. However, there would be only a limited selection in each category.

She envisions the prices as "competitive," "unless there was a delivery component."

A Grinstead's type operation, highly service oriented and offering home delivery, is a model for what she would like in Palmer Square.

Ms. de Clairville said the store would ideally be one operation. "However, if this is cost prohibitive, we would have smaller ones." She noted that if there is not one store, there would be four or five, each selling different items, such as produce, fish, or groceries. "like a European market."

But no matter what kind of store, she is positive that there will be one in the square bounded by Hulfish Street and Paul Robeson Place. "Our merchandising plan includes providing people living in Palmer Square with a store for staples," she said.

photographic record each time a book, record or other item is taken out.

Library Director Robert Staples said that parts are no longer manufactured for it and that it is dangerously close to breaking down.

"We have to have a new system," Mrs. Stonaker told Council.

With the approval of Borough Council and Township Committee during the budget hearings, the Friends of the Library agreed to contribute $10,000 for a consultants' study of the library's circulation system requirements. Information Systems Consultants, Inc., of Bethesda, Md., was hired in March. Its first report is due in September.

Mayor Sigmund said that she had not seen a report on what the consultants are to study and requested that Mayor and Council be given the opportunity for input into the study format.

Assistant Library Director Sue Rock said the consultant was asked to provide costs for transition into the two-card totally manual system that was the library standard before automation as well as for a variety of automated systems.

Other than these two ends of the scale — fully manual to fully automated — there are no other systems that would offer any degrees of control, said Ms. Rock.

Best System for Princeton. The consultant has been asked to evaluate the various types of systems, from the cheapest to the most expensive and complicated, and to determine which is best for Princeton.

He was also requested to supply costs. A previous study done by a Chicago consultant suggested that it would cost $485,000 to replace the current circulation system with an automated one.

Ms. Rock noted that this was one of the higher figures included in the report, and the cost may be less. However, she added that Ridgewood, N.J. had recently bonded $386,000 for its library's new automated circulation system.

Ms. Rock said she would send Mayor Sigmund another copy of the original letter to consultants that spelled out exactly what the library wished to find out from the study.

However, she noted that the mayor had received a copy of the letter in the spring.

"Every member of the board got the letter, and the mayor sits on the board," she said.

She said that the agreement with the consultant was reported in detail to the board and that both the Township and Borough administrators attended the first site visit of the consultant.

The library has requested to appear before Council in September with the results of the report and — it is assumed — with its formal request for the first $100,000. This meeting should also, for the first time, provide a clear idea of what the new circulation system will really cost.

START OF THE SLURRY WALL: Workmen from Conti Construction began last week to insert the slurry wall in the narrow dyke separating Lake Carnegie from the D&R Canal. Opposed at the outset by conservationists who were afraid that trees would not be permitted on top, the slurry wall was subsequently deemed necessary to withstand changes in water pressure when the canal is emptied for dredging.

Macrobiotic Center's Request for Variance On Parking Turned Down by Planning Board

By a narrow 5-4 vote last week, the Planning Board turned down the parking variance requested by the Macrobiotic Center. However, the Center was urged to take away one of the three projected uses for a two-family dwelling on lower Witherspoon Street and reapply.

Ken and Karen Williamson, who are presently renting the 295 side of 293-295 Witherspoon Street from John Delmouzos, want to convert the building to a restaurant/cafe specializing in macrobiotic cooking and a retail store selling packaged foods and other items used in macrobiotic cooking. According to their presentation before the Planning Board, the restaurant would serve daily lunches but dinners only three nights a week and then only to 16 patrons.

Upstairs space, they contend, would be limited to office use for the same personnel who are involved in the restaurant and store. Thus they seek a reduction from 16 to 8 in the number of parking spaces required. They also seek a variance to permit a turn-around on an adjacent lot, also owned by Mr. Delmouzos, and permission to use gravel instead of blacktop in the parking area.

commercial or residential use. He said when he bought the two-family house in 1964 he protested to the tax assessor that the taxes were too high. He was told, he said, that there was added value to the property on two counts: it could be converted to commercial use and it could be sold as two separate lots.

But the Borough's parking ordinance requiring one parking space for every 200 square feet of commercially used space puts a damper on potential commercial sales, he related, and families who come to look at the property say they would not want to raise their children there because of the traffic on Witherspoon Street. Mr. Delmouzos appeared on behalf of the Williamsons in their attempt to convert the building into what their attorney, Dennis Helms, described as "a small scale, quiet, commercial enterprise."

Of The Town

The hearing last Thursday was the second go-around for the Macrobiotic Center, which had appeared before the Planning Board May 16. Several neighbors were on hand then and again last week to object to the granting of a variance on grounds of the traffic a restaurant/retail operation would generate. The building is located in the B-1 zone in the Borough where such uses are permitted.

Mr. Delmouzos, who lives on Madison Street, told the Board of the difficulty he has had in selling the property for either Neighbor's Objections. But the neighbors see this enterprise somewhat differently. Susan Rodnon, a tenant in 293 Witherspoon who has been served eviction notices by Mr. Delmouzos in order to facilitate the use of the entire building by the Williamsons, told of "various business activities" already taking place at the Macrobiotic Center. She spoke of dinners for up to 40 people charged on American Express cards, benefit balls,

Ms. Rodnon, who ran her own health food restaurant in East Brunswick for several years, said the Center had actually traded under at least three different names, including The East/West Center. She said that in her restaurant, which occupied 800 square feet, similar to the proposed restaurant/cafe, she sat 50 people comfortably. The thrust of this testimony was to cast doubt on whether Mr. Williamson would indeed limit his operation to 16 patrons.

Joseph Stonaker, attorney for John Procaccino, an accountant with offices below an apartment at 299 Witherspoon Street, also raised the issue of credibility in a sharp line of questioning to Mr. Williamson. Ultimately, Mr. Williamson acknowledged that there had been three different names under which the Macrobiotic Center had traded in the past, but he denied vigorously serving 40 people at 295 Witherspoon Street. He also said he had never done any catering out of that address, nor did he intend to.

Mr. Williamson said 295 Witherspoon was not the only location of Macrobiotic Center activities. The benefit ball, for instance, at $25 per person, was held at Morven; cooking classes took place at one or the other of the churches in town.

But Planning Board member Aristides Georgantas questioned the discrepancy inherent in a $25 tax deductible contribution paid through a benefit ball to an organization that has tax-exempt status but is also applying for a variance for commercial use. He confessed to "an inability to truly understand what is going on here."

Parking Problems. Several neighbors described "traffic that is too much for the street" and a parking situation "that is already bad, particularly on Thursday nights" when cars often block residential driveways. Karen Williamson attempted to assuage the neighbors by telling them, "this application will solve a lot of the problems, through the eight spaces and the turnaround that will be provided."

Mr. Stonaker told the board that the burden of proof had not been met and that the zoning officer had not ruled whether a school (classes) required additional parking. He asked the board to "be sensitive to this neighborhood."

Too Many Uses. Borough Mayor Barbara Sigmund said that she sympathized with Mr. Delmouzos in his attempt to find a use for his property, but she added: "I frankly believe that there are too many uses in this building for the parking, and there is no practical way to police those uses." She suggested the applicant take away one use, preferably the classes proposed in the restaurant at non-restaurant hours.

Margen Penick said she could support a motion to approve the parking variance if the classes were omitted and uses were limited to restaurant and retail. But Planning Board Attorney Allen Porter warned that the applicant was entitled to a decision on the application as presented. Trying to reconfigure it, he said, was not appropriate.

To the motion to deny the parking variance was attached a lot of probably unnecessary language about returning "without prejudice" with a revised application — which the applicant is entitled to anyway, according to Mr. Porter. Mr. Georgantas, Mrs. Penick, Mrs. Sigmund, Haas Sander and Mrs. Trotman voted to deny the variance.

without which Macrobiotic Center cannot proceed with its present plans.

George Adriance, Deao Chace, Richard Henkel and Mayor Winthrop S. Pike voted in favor of the applicant.

ORDINANCES ON AGENDA
For Council Meeting. At its meeting scheduled for this past Tuesday night (July 9), Borough Council was expected to vote on whether to adopt a series of new ordinances.

They range over a variety of topics, including limiting a vehicle selling food or merchandise to a five-minute stop in any one location on a Borough street; reducing the speed limit on John Street from Nassau to Hulfish to ten miles per hour; placing a stop sign at the intersection of John Street and Chambers Walk; and reducing the size of the Regional Planning Board from 14 to 12.

BOARD REDUCTION
Voted by Township. With several matters still to be worked out with the Borough, Township Committee Monday night adopted an ordinance which will reduce the Regional Planning Board to 12 regular members and two alternates, one from each municipality.

The board presently numbers 14 members in three classifications: the two mayors are known as class 1 members, their appointees from the governing bodies, one from each, are class 2 members, and the five citizen appointees constitute class 3. A similar ordinance was scheduled to be approved by Borough Council as TOWN TOPICS went to press on Tuesday, and if adopted would affect only the class 3 or citizen members.

However, certain details about the two alternates have not been worked out to the satisfaction of Township Committee members. If both alternates are present, and there is only one vacancy on a given night, should it be the Township or the Borough alternate who sits and votes? Planning Board members suggested in jest flipping a coin but in seriousness alternating on a yearly basis. One year the Township alternate has priority, next year the Borough alternate.

Township Committee suggests that in such cases it ought to be the Township alternate sitting in for an absent or disqualified township regular member, and similarly the Borough alternate for Borough member. Committee decided to adopt the ordinance, which it did unanimously Monday, and amend it later after discussions with the Borough. The two ordinances must mirror each other.

Continuity a Concern. At the suggestion of former Planning Board member Elizabeth Hutter, the issue of continuity will also be raised with the Borough, to see if it can be incorporated into an amended

The Traffic Was Spectacular, Too

For most of the estimated 10,000 who attended the fireworks display in Palmer Stadium July 4, two obstacles lay ahead before they would reach home.

First the spectators, many of them carrying chairs and picnic baskets, had to squeeze through narrow exit gates that permitted only a few to pass through at a time. Although the resultant press of bodies was considerable, it turned out to be the easy part.

Avoiding the traffic jams that followed was a lot harder. One Lawrence Township resident who was attending the display for the first time complained that it took over an hour to reach Route 1. "There was no assistance in sight," she said.

Capt. Jack Petrone of the Township police department acknowledged the Pops Concert is getting bigger every year and that traffic was a problem. "It's like a football game but we have never treated it like a football game," he said. "We don't post the streets."

In future years, Capt. Petrone suggested that police may have to post no-parking signs and limit parking to one side of the street in other areas "so the traffic can flow."

ordinance. Mrs. Hutter told the increase, negotiated in Committee. "It should be spelled out, either in the Planning Board rules and regulations, or preferably by ordinance, that alternates are expected to attend. I'm concerned about a lack of continuity on the part of alternates."

Mrs. Hutter said the problem of continuity is less crucial at the Zoning Board, which also has a system of alternates but which makes decisions more on a case by case basis. At the Planning Board, by contrast, one decision affects the next in shaping Princeton development, she felt.

At the suggestion of Township Administrator James Pascale, a staggered rather than concurrent two-year term of office for the two alternates will also be aired with the Borough.

Salary Hike for Chief. In other business, Committee introduced an ordinance to raise Police Chief Anthony Pinelli's salary to $42,500. Mayor Winthrop S. Pike commented that closed session earlier, was requested in order to make it "commensurate with police chief salaries in neighboring municipalities." Chief Pinelli's present salary is $41,247. A public hearing is scheduled for August 5.

That is also the date set for a public hearing on a Uniform Fire Safety Code which mandates annual inspections of structures that are deemed to have "life hazard uses" and be of particular high risk to the public. Such structures include service stations, hotels, motels, high rise buildings, eating and drinking establishments, theatres and other places where the public congregates.

If adopted, the measure will require the hiring of a part-time fire inspection official, in addition to the building inspector already on Township rolls who makes fire safety inspections on new structures. However, there is a provision for the imposition of fees, which will offset the cost to the Township.

The measure is the result of recently enacted state legislation and sets an August deadline for municipalities to adopt the code and thus agree to conduct municipal inspections. Municipalities that fail to act will have state or county inspections imposed upon them. Mayor Pike termed the measure "a clear case of the very strong fireman's lobby in the state."

He was particularly annoyed by the state's insistence that a municipality can not contract out enforcement of the code but must hire a part time employee. However, Township Administrator Pascale said it might be more "appropriate" for the Township to hire its own inspector but agreed with the mayor that it was the loss of discretion, or choice, that rankled.

North Road resident Angeline F. Austen was permitted time on the agenda to air her grievances against the Township for the increased traffic on her street and the poor state of road maintenance on both North Road and Pretty Brook Road. She complained that cars and trucks were cutting through her street at high speeds. The North Road is the hypotenuse to the right angle formed by The Great Road and Pretty Brook Road.

Township Engineer Robert V. Kiser told her that reconstruction on both the North Road and Pretty Brook Road was scheduled for the present season. Township Committee acceded to Ms. Austen's request for a weight limit to trucks using the North Road, but said it could not in conscience agree to closing one end of the street because of the need for access by fire vehicles.

APPRAISER HIRED

For Sewer Lands, Borough Council has approved the hiring of Joseph Martin of Lawrenceville to appraise 7.2 acres of land in Montgomery County. The acreage is part of the site along River Road used by the Sewer Operating Committee (SOC).

The purpose of the appraisal is to determine whether the seven-acre parcel, currently unused by the SOC, might be sold and the proceeds used to finance the construction of affordable housing.

Mr. Martin will be paid $75 per hour, with a top figure of $1,000. Two-thirds of his fee will be borne by the Borough and one-third by the Township. The Borough has a 48 percent equity in the land, the Township's equity is 28 percent, and Princeton University's is 24 percent.

The appraiser will be asked to take into consideration the proximity both of the proposed I-92 roadway and of the sewage facilities.

CUT-OFF NOW 7 P.M.

Borough Changes Ordinance. Borough Council voted to change a recently adopted ordinance that allowed door-to-door solicitation until 8 p.m. in the winter months. Now canvassers must stop their rounds at 7 p.m. instead of at 8. The 9 p.m. cutoff during Daylight Saving Time, however, remains.

The change came after Mayor Barbara Sigmund discovered the group that had been suing the Borough to allow door-to-door solicitation until 9 p.m. all year round had agreed to drop their similar suit against West Windsor in return for a 7 p.m. cutoff.

She said that the Borough had tried to give the group — New Jersey Citizen Action — as much evening time as possible after a representative had stated that the hours from 7 to 9 p.m. were their best hours.

"We tried to cooperate with them," said the mayor, "but I feel we have been had."

SCORES ARE IN

Area Students Score High. Princeton and West Windsor-Plainsboro students came out near the top in this year's High School Proficiency Test. The test, administered in March to ninth-grade students throughout the state, is gradually being phased in to replace the Minimum Basic Skills Test as a requirement for graduation.

The proficiency test is more difficult than the basic skills exam, and is intended to raise academic standards in New Jersey's public schools.

Princeton Regional scored 91.5 on the writing section, the highest in the state. West Windsor's score was 89.7.

West Windsor's high school freshmen topped the state in math scores, with an average of 83.6. Princeton's average was 81.0. Students in the two systems were neck and neck in reading, with Princeton scoring 90.7 and West Windsor 90.6.

The test results for other area systems (in the order of reading, math and writing) are: Hopewell Valley, 90.4, 80.1, and 86.4; Lawrence, 87.0,

UNIVERSITY IS FINED

By Nuclear Agency. Failure to follow established safety procedures in dealing with radioactive materials has resulted in a fine against Princeton University.

The university was fined $4,000 last week by the federal Nuclear Regulatory Commission after a researcher was allegedly exposed to more than six times the amount of radioactivity permitted while handling Phosphorus-32, a radioactive isotope used in biological research.

A spokesman for the NRC said the university was cited because the researcher was not wearing a protective laboratory coat and allegedly did not check himself for radiation exposure before leaving the laboratory following the incident.

Material from a vial reportedly sprayed the researcher on his upper arm and shoulder when he removed a rubber seal.

The researcher, the NRC spokesman said, did not realize until six hours later, after the spill had been detected by another laboratory worker, that he had been exposed.

University spokesman Justin Harmon has identified the researcher only as a visiting fellow from Hungary who has since returned to his native home.

The incident occurred May 7. The NRC spokesman said that the spill was not life-threatening and it is unlikely the researcher is in danger from the radiation dose he received.

Mr. Harmon commented that the university does not deny it was at fault but he did question what he described as an NRC contention that the university's training in the procedure of handling such sensitive chemicals is lacking. If it wishes, the university could appeal the NRC's decision within 30 days.

FOUR ARE CHARGED

With Drug Possession. Four persons were arrested by Princeton police last week in separate incidents and charged with possession of drugs.

Albert Esposito, 27, of Staten Island, was stopped Sunday night on Washington Road, after Ptl. Ralph Terracciano had observed him making an illegal U-turn on Nassau Street.

As the officer approached the stopped car, he noticed a package of rolling papers and a partially-consumed marijuana cigarette in the ash tray.

Esposito was placed under arrest and taken to headquarters when a probable cause search of his car uncovered two partially-smoked roaches. During an inventory search of his personal property at headquarters, police found a piece of folded paper in his wallet containing a white powder believed to be cocaine.

Esposito was charged with possession of cocaine, possession of less than 25 grams of marijuana and making an improper U-turn. He was later released and is scheduled to appear in Borough court August 7.

Possession Of A Handgun. Two out-of-state residents have both been charged with possession of a handgun without a permit and possession of less than 25 grams of marijuana.

cher, 40, of Big Pine Key, Fla., have each since been released in $1,000 bail set by Borough Judge Russell Annich Jr.

Both were in a pickup truck that was stopped Thursday afternoon for speeding on Snowden Lane by Det. Randy Sutton. Det. Sutton had observed a passenger holding a bottle out the window and both he and the driver appeared to be jumping around inside the cab.

After stopping the truck, Det. Sutton saw some firecrackers on the dashboard and a number of beer bottles on the floor.

Explaining that possession of firecrackers is illegal in New Jersey, the officer confiscated them and began to look for more when the driver informed him he had a gun in the truck. Wedged in the crack between the two front seats, Det. Sutton found an unloaded, stainless steel .22 caliber revolver.

In the truck's glove compartment, Det. Sutton found a quantity of bullets and some marijuana. Both suspects were arrested and charged. The driver was also issued a traffic summons for speeding.

Resists Arrest. Arrested last week in the Tulane Street parking yard and charged with possession of less than 25 grams of marijuana, littering and resisting arrest is Jeffrey Smith, 28, of Witherspoon Street.

Smith was observed shortly before 10 p.m. sitting in his car by Ptl. Terracciano, who saw him throw some trash out the car window. As the officer approached the car and began to tell the occupant that he was violating the Borough's anti-litter ordinance, he noticed a plastic baggie protruding from Smith's sock. When Smith realized the officer had seen the baggie, he tried to conceal it, Lt. Thomas Michaud reported.

Smith complied when Ptl. Terracciano asked him to get out of the car, but as he did so, he reached down, pulled out the baggie, and ran away. He was apprehended a short distance away in the parking lot.

During his arrest, Lt. Michaud reported, Smith began to struggle and shout. He had to be subdued and handcuffed before police could transport him to headquarters.

After being charged, Smith was released. He is scheduled to appear August 7 in Borough court.

Eviction Leads to Arrest. Daryl B. Boone, 32, of Holly House, Princeton Community Village, has been charged by Township police with possession of a controlled dangerous substance, possession of less than 25 grams of marijuana and possession of narcotic paraphernalia. He was scheduled to appear in Township court this week, after being released by Judge Sydney Souter in his own recognizance.

According to Capt. Jack Petrone, constables from the Mercer County Court had arrived at Boone's apartment Friday morning with eviction papers. While in his apartment they allegedly observed a quantity of a controlled dangerous substance and called Township police.

As a result of that call and a subsequent investigation by Det. David A. Funk, Boone was arrested and charged.

the Wawa Store on University Place was partially uprooted by two men early Saturday morning.

An employee of the store, police said, observed the two attempting to uproot the meter stanchion and the two suspects fled when he came out and yelled at them. He called police at 3:45 a.m.

The suspects are described as two white males, one six-foot tall, thin, with blonde hair and the second as 5-10, husky, weighing more than 200 pounds, with black hair.

Two convertibles were vandalized last week in the Township.

A 1975 Olds owned by a Trenton resident and parked in the Princeton Medical Center garage had its top slashed, engine wires pulled out and gear shift lever broken. An attendant at the garage told police he believed the vandalism was done between 7 and 8 in the morning.

Someone burned a hole in a plastic window of a 1979 Jeep convertible while it was parked last week in a parking area of Tupelo Row in the Princeton Community Village.

Township police report they have a juvenile suspect in the incident, whom they believe used a cigarette lighter. No estimate of the damage was available in either incident.

DETECTORS ARE STOLEN

From Parked Cars. Two radar detectors, both valued at $245, were stolen last week from cars parked in the Township.

Police report a right door window was smashed to enter a car parked in the driveway of the owner on Snowden Lane between 10:30 Saturday evening and 8:30 the following morning.

A Grover Avenue resident reported parking his car in his garage and closing the door, only to discover his detector gone the next morning. Police report there were no signs of forced entry.

Nothing else was taken in either theft.

TWO ARE FINED
In Township Court. Two Princeton area residents were fined last week in Township traffic court by Judge Sydney Souter.

Ian Magder, 385 Walnut Lane, was fined $65 for careless driving and Raymond E. Whitlock, 2 Park Avenue, Rocky Hill, paid the same amount for a stop sign violation.

In Borough traffic court Monday, Jane Bahadurian, 15 Merritt Lane, Rocky Hill, was fined $70 for careless driving.

Charles V. DiDonemico, 50 Meadow Run Drive, Skillman, paid two fines of $20 each for unregistered vehicle and overdue inspection.

ton. The grant was made in memory of James Kerney (1873-1934), editor, author and jurist statesman.

The grant will be used in part to purchase films for the Council's community and school education programs. It will also help to upgrade the functioning of the Council's Apple II computer.

The Mercer Council on Alcoholism is a private, non-profit organization whose mission is to increase public awareness of alcohol abuse and alcoholism. Its programs in prevention include professional and student education, student and employee assistance services for schools and businesses, and public information and referral.

CELEBRATE SPACEDAY

At State Museum. The second annual New Jersey Spaceday will be held Saturday, July 20, from 9 to 5 at the New Jersey State Museum in Trenton. It has been organized by the North Jersey Chapter of the L5 Society and the museum.

Last summer's event attracted 2000 people. This year, Spaceday has been expanded to include a series of science fiction films, including 2001 and Star Wars. These will be shown on weekends in July and August.

Beginning July 6, a space and science fiction art show will exhibit the works of such artists as Kelly Freas, Vincent DiFate and David Mattingly.

On Spaceday, Cheryl Howarth of the Geostar Corporation will discuss Geostar's creation of a new position-indicating service that may someday replace the current air traffic control system. Gregory Marlines of NASA will explain NASA's role in our future in space.

Also planned is an open public debate on "Star Wars" between Major Simon P. Warden of the Strategic Defense Initiative Office of the Department of Defense and Daniel Duedney of Princeton University.

Exhibits will include the North Jersey Chapter of L5 exhibit on possible space futures; NASA's model of the Space Shuttle and future space projects; an exhibit by the Amateur Astronomy Association of Princeton; and the Geostar system.

Direct images from the Shuttle Mission Launch will be shown through a satellite dish down-link connection at the museum.

Other Spaceday activities will include a video room and special planetarium shows.

A new addition to this year's Spaceday is a program that provides a beginning education in space and science for younger children. Parents may leave their children at this activity while they participate in adult events.

Summer Space Festival films at the State Museum are Star Wars and Hardware Wars, July 6 and 7, 2 p.m.; The Empire Strikes Back, July 13 and 14, 2 p.m.; The Making of a Sogo, July 20, 11 a.m.; The Right Stuff, July 20, 2:30 p.m., and July 21, 2 p.m.; Twenty Thousand Leagues Under the Sea, July 27, 2 p.m.;

Also, Journey to the Center of the Earth, August 3 and 4, 2 p.m.; The Thing, August 10 and 11, 2 p.m.; Forbidden Planet, August 17 and 18, 2 p.m.; 2001: A Space Odyssey, August 24 and 25, 2 p.m.; and 2010: Space Odyssey, August 31 and September 1, 2 p.m.

For additional information, contact the State Museum at 292-6333 or the L5 Society at 587-0921.

FILM FOR CHILDREN

In Rocky Hill. The Mary Jacobs Library in Rocky Hill will present the movie "Hans Christian Andersen" on Thursday, July 11, at 7:30 p.m.

This 1952 film, directed by Samuel Goldwyn, stars Danny Kaye as the great Danish story teller Hans Christian Andersen. Its joyous songs and breathtaking ballet scenes may rank it as one of the most popular films for children ever made. It runs for 104 minutes.

This program is free and open to the public. For further information, call the library at 924-7073.

SMOKELESS DANCING

At Arts Council. The Arts Council will hold the first of its monthly dance event series — scheduled for the third Friday of each month — on Friday, July 19. Hours are 8 to 11 p.m.

A special focus of The People Dance will be an alcohol- and smoke-free environment. There will be a wide variety of dance music and participants are invited to bring tape cassettes of their favorites.

The dances are open to all

MAP GUIDE AVAILABLE
Updated information. About Town, Inc., Information Services has released the updated, 1985 version of its guidebook About Princeton, A Map Guide. The first edition, which made

About Princeton has eight subject-matter maps -- Restaurants and Food Shops, Basic Shopping, Transportation and Accommodations, Things to See and Do, Princeton University, Westminster Choir College, and Princeton Theological Seminary. It also has an indexed street map of Princeton Borough and Township. Roads, streets, and major landmarks appear on all eight maps. The maps are accompanied by information such as airport, bus and train terminal phone numbers, restaurant addresses, type of cuisine and closing days, and capsule descriptions of cultural and recreational activities. Hotels, corporate centers, municipal services, and public parking lots are indicated by symbol on the maps themselves.

About Princeton is available at retail outlets, including the Princeton University Store, Barnes & Noble (formerly The Booky), Hinkson's, Micawber Books and the Chamber of Commerce of the Princeton Area. Bulk order information is available by writing About Town, Inc., Box 324, Princeton, N.J. 08542, or calling 921-6601. About Town, Inc., Information Services, specializes in providing information about communities. The company's second map guide, About Brunswick, was published two months ago.

A Japanese Garden
By Charles Peterson
Let us create for you the peace and tranquility of a Japanese garden. No area is too large or too small that it can't be turned into a "mirror of nature," the ideal of every Japanese garden.
With simplicity the key, we can build ponds and cascades where falling water will impart a tranquil mood. An arching bridge can reflect in the water or lead the viewer on a relaxing walk. The graceful branches of weeping trees can add serenity to your garden. A Japanese lantern, carefully placed, can illuminate your path or reflect nearby branches. Stepping stones and meandering paths can add an aesthetic touch and also offer a firm surface for leisurely walking.
If the naturalness and beauty of a Japanese garden appeals to you, please call Charles Peterson at Peterson's Nursery, 924-5770, for an appointment.

SNOW FENCING and three warning lights are all that separate an errant southbound car in these sections of the Harrison Street bridge from Lake Carnegie. The car accident that took out the railing has raised fears among Township officials that the county might act to close the bridge momentarily, long in advance of any possible start of reconstruction.

Bridges
replacing the bridge. The mayors express alarm that a structure of such historic significance would even be considered for replacement rather than rehabilitation. They suggest that the monies that would be expended on such a study "should be immediately reallocated towards the bridge's rehabilitation," since the historic significance of the structure is already so well known and documented.

The mayors also discuss the two-phase improvement proposed for the Route 27 bridge over Harry's Brook. The DOT is presently proposing to install a guide rail along the bridge to act as a safety feature in light of a weakened parapet. The DOT is also studying rehabilitation of this bridge at a later date.

At the meeting between Princeton officials and DOT staff, concerns were expressed regarding the appropriateness of the proposed guide rail, because it would reduce the already narrow structure by 18 inches on each side. The mayors say this would create a hazard to walkers, joggers and cyclists who use the bridge in substantial numbers. The likelihood of a car hitting the parapet, in their view, "is remote" that it is far overshadowed by the greater risk to pedestrians created by the rail.

Serious Deterioration. The taking out of two sections of rail on the west side of the Harrison Street bridge in a recent car accident has drawn attention to the deteriorating state of this bridge and whatever plans the county may have to rebuild or replace it.

In an article in the Trenton Times, the supervising engineer of DOT's office of traffic and local road design is quoted as saying, "The [Harrison Street] bridge has absolutely zero structural integrity. In all reality, the county should probably close it."

Commenting on these remarks to Township Committee on Monday night, Mayor Pike said he would endeavor to persuade the county to close the bridge at the last possible moment before construction. "As we all know, closing any one of the three routes into Princeton means the other two are disaster," he remarked. "It is in our interest to keep that bridge open as long as possible."

The mayor had sharp words for police of both municipalities, West Windsor and Princeton Township, for not enforcing violations of the 1½ ton weight limit. But he also termed the placement of signs announcing the weight limit restriction as "stupid" — too small and hidden by foliage — to alert trucks to the danger.

The county is presently undertaking a "feasibility study" to determine whether the bridge can or should be reconstructed on its existing piers and whether or not it should be realigned to remove the sharp right hand turns involved in approaching from either direction. In addition the county is awaiting word on its request for $3.5 million in federal funds to help finance the replacement or repair. The study is expected to be completed by September, when the answer to the funding request is also expected.

But according to Robert V. Kiser, Township Engineer, the feasibility study would have to be followed by engineering and design studies. And according to the DOT supervising engineer, repair work would not begin until at least January, and the road could be closed for a year before it is completed.

Born in Paterson, Mr. Federici had lived in Princeton for more than 50 years. He was a tailor for more than 25 years with Saks Fifth Avenue in Princeton until his retirement in 1972. An Army Air Force veteran of World War II, he was a member of Princeton Council No. 636 Knights of Columbus, the Italian-American Sportsmen's Club of Princeton and St. Paul's Church Choir.

Surviving are his wife, Adeline Baldassari Federici; two daughters and sons-in-law, Mena and Michael Shadow of Cleveland Heights, Ohio, and Anita and Bruce Thompson of Bricktown; five grandchildren; two sisters, Maria Cristiano of Castelgrande, Italy, and Anna Maitlasso of Barile, Italy; and a brother, Nicola Federici of Castelgrande.

Mass of Christian Burial was celebrated in St. Paul's Church with burial in the parish cemetery. Arrangements were under the direction of the Kimble Funeral Home. Memorial contributions may be made to St. Paul's Health Ministry, 214 Nassau Street, Princeton 08542.

Maj. Gen. Otto L. Nelson, former Princeton resident who had distinguished careers in the military, business and the academic world, died June 25 in New Rochelle, N.Y. A resident of Alexandria, Va., after leaving Princeton, he had been participating in a tournament of the Eastern Seniors Golf Association when he died.

Maj. Gen. Nelson is credited with playing a key role in the reorganization of the U.S. Army from a 150,000-man force in 1938 to an 11-million man Army dispersed around the world in 1944. After leaving the Army he was a vice president in charge of housing for New York Life Insurance for 22 years, and as such was in charge of the development of Stanworth in Princeton, among other projects, when housing was very scarce.

General Nelson was born in Omaha, Neb., in 1902, the first generation son of Swedish immigrants. He was educated in Omaha public schools, and in the fall of 1920 he entered West Point. He graduated with the Class of 1924, known as "The Thundering Herd," and elected to serve in the Infantry. Later he served as an instructor of economics and history at The Point, from 1929-1935 and 1938-1941.

He also earned a master's degree at Columbia University and a Ph.D. at Harvard University in economics and political science. He was the author of "National Security and the General Staff" (1946), his doctoral thesis, which led to General George C. Marshall taking him from his post as a professor at West Point and making him his Deputy Chief of Staff during World War II. Published as a book, the work is used as a reference text in United States military officer schools.

While on active military duty, General Nelson served in numerous posts in the United States, Puerto Rico and Italy. From 1942-44 he served as Gen. Marshall's Deputy Chief of Staff, and in 1945 he was Deputy Theater Commander of the Mediterranean Theater of Operations under Theater Commander Joseph T. McNarney.

He retired with the rank of Major General in 1946 after receiving the Distinguished Service Medal for War Department Service and DSM with Oak Leaf Cluster for wartime service in Italy.

In 1946, Gen. Nelson joined New York Life Insurance Company in New York in a newly established position of vice president in charge of housing. He directed New York Life's entry into this new area of interest and planned innovative housing developments in New York City (Manhattan House), Long Island (Fresh Meadows) and Chicago (Lake Meadows), in addition to Stanworth.

A Princeton resident during the 1950's and 1960's, he was a member of Springdale Golf Club here, the Century and Harvard Clubs in New York and the Army Navy Town Club in Washington. He was also a member of eight senior amateur golfing associations and the Westminster Presbyterian Church in Alexandria, Va.

Survivors include his wife, the former Milrae E. Jensen; three nephews and 13 great nieces and nephews.

The service was held at The Old Chapel, Fort Myer, Va., followed by burial with full military honors in Arlington National Cemetery. Contributions may be made to The West Point Fund, West Point, N.Y. 10996, or to the Westminster Presbyterian Church, 2701 Cameron Mills Road, Alexandria, Va. 22302.

LET'S TALK ABOUT

ARE YOU A USER???

Part II
with Sam DeTuro
Woodwinds Associates

9 SIGNAL WORDS - indicate the level of toxicity of the chemical 10 (FIRST AID) PROCEDURES - in case of inhalation, swallowing or contact with eyes and skin 11 USE STATEMENT - the pesticide will be labeled "General Use" or "Restricted Use" General use pesticides will not cause serious harm to humans or to the environment when used properly. They are available to the general public. On the other hand, a restricted use pesticide is extremely dangerous and can be purchased only by certified applicators (such as an arborist) 12 DIRECTIONS FOR USE - this section tells you what pests are controlled and on which crops the chemical can be used. It essentially tells you how, how much, where and when to apply the pesticide. It also gives directions on storage, mixing, disposal and empty-container disposal. From the information provided, you can see that the pesticide label not only instructs you on usage, but can assist you in selecting a less dangerous yet effective product.

If you are a "user" keep the following rules in mind: 1. Treat all chemicals, even the supposedly safe products, as if they were extremely dangerous. 2. Wash yourself and your clothing immediately after usage. 4. Use the appropriate equipment, and wear proper clothing. 5. Read and follow all directions on the pesticide label. For it can prolong your life. Repeated exposure to chemicals can affect your health.

Last, but certainly not least, are the explanations for signal words. CAUTION - Low toxicity or relatively free from danger. It requires from an ounce to more than a pint to kill an adult human. WARNING - Moderately toxic. It takes one (1) to three (3) teaspoons to kill an adult human. DANGER - Extremely toxic. Less than a teaspoon can kill an adult human.

A well dressed applicator should be wearing shoes, sufficient clothing, gloves, goggles and a respirator, so that he/she is protected from direct contact and inhalation. Leaving skin exposed when applying poisons subjects you needlessly to possible harm, both from direct exposure and absorption. Call the experts when in doubt!!! Call WOODWINDS (924-3500).

One Princeton Woman, Ellen Axson Wilson, Is Subject of Biography Written by Another

Ellen Axson Wilson is a name more Princeton residents should know. Woodrow Wilson's wife for 29 years, including his years as a member of the history department at Princeton University, his term as president of the University and the two years as governor of New Jersey, this Mrs. Wilson left a legacy here that few are aware of today.

It is the second Mrs. Woodrow Wilson, the former Edith Bolling Galt, a widow 15 years his junior whom he married after Ellen died in the White House in 1914, who comes more frequently to mind, because of whatever influence she may have had on important decisions bearing on international affairs in the post World War I period, when Wilson was in declining health.

But it was Ellen Wilson, for instance, who suggested the residence at 82 Library Place which the Wilsons built and occupied for six years. As Woodrow Wilson's confidant who sustained him in all things, she supported his attempt to institute a quadrangle plan to supplant the eating club and bicker system which both regarded as unjust.

New Biography. Frances Saunders of Cold Soil Road has written a biography of this remarkable woman that should go a long way toward restoring Wilson's first wife to her proper place in history. It is called Ellen Axson Wilson, First Lady Between Two Worlds, and it has just been published by the University of North Carolina Press in Chapel Hill. Titles Unlimited in the Princeton Shopping Center will hold a publication party for the author on Friday evening, and Mrs. Saunders will also be available to discuss and autograph her book on Saturday between 1 and 3.

Mrs. Saunders was encouraged to undertake this project by none other than Arthur S. Link, editor of The Papers of Woodrow Wilson, published by Princeton University Press and already in 40-odd volumes. She had known both Margaret and Arthur Link when she and they were graduate students together at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill.

When Mrs. Saunders returned to Princeton with her family in 1976, the Links and the Saunders renewed the friendship. Having worked as a science editor at the National Center for Atmospheric Research in Boulder, Col. — work which she regards as excellent training for history research — Mrs. Saunders was eager for a free lance project. Arthur Link suggested writing an article on the friendship between Woodrow Wilson and Mrs. Mary Peck. Mrs. Peck became Wilson's confidante when his close friendship with logic professor John Grier Hibben broke over the quadrangle plan and Wilson's insistence that the proposed graduate college be located on the existing campus and not at a distance.

The article appeared in the August 1978 issue of American Heritage and led Mr. Link and his senior associate editor to suggest that a biography of Ellen Axson Wilson was "badly needed." With a nudge from her husband, who told her not to think over the proposal any longer than five seconds before accepting, Mrs. Saunders began work that October.

Ellen Axson Wilson

Her research was thorough and exhaustive. The bibliography lists manuscripts and archival sources in various locations throughout the south, where Ellen Axson was born in Georgia in 1860, to cities and towns across the nation wherever family members or pertinent papers could be discovered. In the process, caches of material turned up in unexpected ways.

A group of 65 Axson family letters, for instance, had been preserved by Jean Van Houten in her Princeton home until "the right person" would come along to make use of them. The letters were a trust from her friend Margaret Axson Elliott, Ellen's younger sister, who made her home here after her husband's death.

This sister is buried with her husband in Princeton Cemetery, as is a beloved younger brother, who was drowned with his wife and infant daughter as their horse-drawn carriage attempted to cross a rain-swollen stream in Creighton, Ga.

Expanded The Role. To Mrs. Saunders, the remarkable thing about Ellen Wilson was the fact that she was not only an exemplary wife who presided over an extraordinary household of extended family, his as well as hers, in the southern tradition that was expected of her, but that she also managed to maintain an identity all her own, which was a radical departure.

Mrs. Saunders begins her book with this summary: "Ellen Axson Wilson, while playing an essential role in Woodrow Wilson's private and idea of the honor code at Princeton University when she learned of the cheating that went on from the southern students they entertained regularly. It was she who undertook a major renovation of Prospect as the residence of the president of Princeton, and the landscaping of Prospect Gardens. An artist who studied at the Art Students League in New York City before her marriage and whose paintings are respected by other artists, she also designed the Tudor

McCarter Renovations Are Delayed; Bids $1 Million Higher than Expected

Renovations, whether to a home or a major theatre like McCarter, take longer and cost more than originally anticipated.

After a month of negotiating with the lowest of four bidders whose bids in April far exceeded original estimates, McCarter Theatre has signed a contract with Gilbane Building Company to proceed with the first phase of its planned renovation.

The first phase, expected to cost $3.6 million, will include new seating throughout the auditorium; the addition of box and grand tier seats; air conditioning and a modernized heating and ventilating system; additional restrooms on the upper and lower lobby levels; an infra-red hearing enhancement system for the hearing-impaired; and removable seating to accommodate wheel chairs.

According to Allison Harris, managing director of McCarter, four contractors submitted bids on April 2. The contractors were asked to structure their bids in three ways: phase one by itself, phase two (additional lobbies and office space to the sides of the theatre) by itself, and both phases combined. Ms. Harris reports that all four bids came in "very, very high."

"We were very surprised," Ms. Harris says, "because we had had a construction cost estimate prepared by a very reputable international firm with an office in Philadelphia, based on our preliminary drawings." That estimate was for $2.5 million, she says.

A Million Too Much. Bids from the four bidders ranged from $3.3 to $3.75 million for construction cost alone, to which must be added nearly $1 million in architect fees, permits, development costs, seating and other items. McCarter then took the low bid by Gilbane Building Company and spent the next several weeks working with the company to bring that bid down. The result is some different structural approaches which won't affect the overall design significantly, Ms. Harris says, and a signed contract.

Gilbane, headquartered in Providence, R.I., has offices in the Carnegie Center where it was the contractor for the Hyatt Regency. The firm was contractor for the National Air and Space Museum and the Vietnam War Memorial in Washington, D.C. It is presently undertaking the renovations to the Princeton Shopping Center.

The old seats will be taken out starting the week of July 15, Ms. Harris hopes, and preparatory demolition work will begin the following week. The existing ceiling must be removed, and a hole punched in the floor where the stairway will be extended to the new ladies room on the lower level.

Architects for the renovation are James R. Grieves Associates of Baltimore, Md. The Grieves firm is also responsible for the renovation of Alexander Hall on the Princeton University campus and the Brandywine Museum in Chadds Ford, Pa.

According to Ms. Harris, completion date is March 3, 1986, and McCarter plans a mini-season of drama, dance, music and special events from early March through June. Details will be announced in mid July.

At Kresge. A pair of contemporary "film noir" suspense thrillers, Brian de Palma's Body Double and Clint Eastwood's Tightrope, will form the double feature presentation for Summer Cinema's fifth week at Kresge Auditorium. The double feature will be shown this Wednesday through Sunday.

Body Double was director de Palma's latest and most blatant variation to date on the works of his mentor, Alfred Hitchcock, with elements of both Vertigo and Rear Window. De Palma's hero is Jake (Craig Wasson), who becomes fascinated, and then sexually obsessed, with Gloria (Deborah Shelton), a female figure he can spy on only through a telescope. But his voyeuristic passion turns to terror when he discovers that another man is watching her too, but for different reasons: to murder her with a power drill.

Jake's pursuit of answers to what he has seen involves him in the world of porno films, and introduces him to Holly (Melanie Griffith), a porn actress who becomes the bizarre double of the dead Gloria. Body Double is sexy and explicitly crude — it is rated "R" with good reason — and full of the masterful touches that have made de Palma (Dressed to Kill) the master of mayhem.

Clint Eastwood, currently winning plaudits from the critics for Pale Rider, won even greater rave reviews a year ago for his risky performance in Tightrope, a character study from the screen's number one box office star who is usually thought to talk only with bullets. In Tightrope Eastwood plays Wes, a taciturn street-wise New Orleans detective investigating a series of brutal sex murders.

His wife has left him, and Wes has become a lonely, withdrawn figure, charmless and sexually ravenous, with the habit of visiting the prostitutes he encounters in his vice-cop work and paying them to submit to him in bondage. Consorting with his intimate informers makes his nights, and his investigation of the murders becomes a tour of erotic specialties. But while Wes stalks the killer, the killer is also stalking him, and he begins to realize that the murderer is forcing him to confront his own compulsion.

Directed by Richard Tugle, Tightrope becomes a nightmare of self-recognition, for wherever Wes searches for the rapist, he finds himself. The role of Wes represents a major advance in the consciousness of Eastwood's one-man "make my day" genre, and most critics found it his best picture to date, and his performance deserving of an

WILDER CLASSIC DUE

At Murray Theatre, Princeton Summer Theatre's second production of the season, Thornton Wilder's The Skin of Our Teeth, will run July 11-14 and July 18-21.

Thursday, Friday and Saturday shows will begin at 8 p.m., Sunday shows will begin at 4:30 p.m. All performances will take place in the Hamilton Murray Theatre, located on the Princeton University campus.

The Skin of Our Teeth is a compassionate play in praise of the fortitude of the human race. Mr. Wilder looks on life with the eyes of a prophet, revealing the true source behind our will to survive — the human spirit. The play follows the antics of the Antrobus family as they brave the cold of the Ice Age, conquer dinosaurs and survive a global war.

At the head of the household is George Antrobus (Richard Brehm), a modern day Adam. Known for discovering the alphabet and the wheel, he leads his family on a whirlwind journey of narrow escapes and survival. At his side is his wife Maggie (Mary Beth Miller), who is just as ingenious, creating the apron and the novelty of the year: frying in oil.

Along for the ride are their children, Gladys (Lisa Robinson) and Henry (Michael Kohler), who was once known as Cain but has changed his name since that unfortunate accident. Lily Sabrina Fairweather (Debbie Johnson), a sultry snake in maid's clothing, tags along as well, waiting for her proper time to strike.

Together this archetypal family play out the struggles of mankind, stretching the history of humanity from the Garden of Eden to the Garden State. Always barely surviving by the skin of their teeth, they begin again, recreating civilization from the ashes and remains of great disasters, natural and man-made.

MUSIC

TWO OPERAS NOW

And More In Season. For the past two years, the Westminster Conservatory's Opera Outings program has been sponsoring trips to Saturday matinee performances at the Metropolitan Opera in New York City. In addition to the Saturday excursions, this year's offerings include two summer evening performances by the New York City Opera at Lincoln Center.

The summer selections are Lucia di Lammermoor by Donizetti, offered on Thursday, July 11, and La Rondine by Puccini, on Wednesday, July 17.

Included in the ticket prices are round-trip transportation from the Westminster Choir College campus and dining information for restaurants in the Lincoln Center area. Buses leave Princeton at 4:30 p.m. to arrive in New York City in time for a light supper before the performance, and return immediately following the final curtain.

For the Metropolitan Opera's 1985-86 season, individual tickets are now on sale for Saturday matinees. Additional seats in the Dress Circle and Orchestra are also now available.

Opening the Conservatory's Saturday series this year will be Verdi's Falstaff, followed by the familiar and tuneful Cavalleria Rusticana by Pagliacci. Other operas include Porgy and Bess, as well as new productions of Bizet's Carmen and Janacek and Parade, three French one-act operas by Satie, Poulenc and Havel.

Tickets for all operas are limited and are available on a first-come, first-served basis. For further information, call the Westminster Conservatory office at 921-7104.

He will perform 17th and 18th century works of Spanish, French and German Baroque composers in a solo recital which is open to the public free of charge.

LET'S GO TO THE OPERA: Martha Cook Davidson, director of the Westminster Conservatory, plans excursions to the New York City Opera July 11 and 17 with Jay Smith, director of the Westminster Summer Session, and Kathleen Grammer, opera outings coordinator. For information and tickets call 921-7104.

The program will include works by Juan Cahanilles, Juan de Segovia, Joseph Jimenez, Jean Titelouze, Jacques Boyvin, Francois Couperin, Michael Pealorius, Johann Ludwig Krebs and Nikolaus Bruhns. Mr. Hofmann performs frequently in Germany, France and The Netherlands, and has often been heard on West German and French radio and television.

MULTIPLE HARPSICHOID
And Hammered Dulcimer. A multiple harpsichord recital featuring five harpsichords playing in concert will be held Sunday evening at 8:30 in Bristol Chapel, Westminster Choir College.

The recital was presented early this spring as part of the Westminster Baroque Festival. The repeat performance will again feature the music of J.S. Bach. Westminster faculty artists Mark Brombaugh and Joan Lippincott will be joined by Westminster student Jeffrey Mead and graduate Sharon Dryer for the concert, along with church musician and guest artist Ray Urwin. Admission is free.

A hammered dulcimer recital featuring guest artist Lucille Reilly will be held Wednesday, July 17 at 7 in Williamson Hall. Miss Reilly is a leading authority on the hammered dulcimer. She will perform selections that emphasize the beauty of this stringed keyboard instrument. The concert is free but seating is limited.

The weekly Wednesday Hymn Sing will feature selections from the Pilgrim Hymnal. Noted choral arranger and composer, Alice Parker, will lead the singing beginning at 8:30 in Bristol Chapel.

A voice recital featuring tenor Nelson Huber will be presented on Tuesday, July 16, at 6:30 p.m. preceding the Summer Sing. Mr. Huber, a Westminster student, will be assisted by Engelchor, a woodwind ensemble.

At Choir College. Mid-July offers a wealth of organ music at the Westminster Choir College Summer Session Music Festival.

Beginning Monday evening at 7 in Bristol Chapel, noted organist and pedal harpsichordist Mark Brombaugh will perform works by Bach, Buxtehude, Schumann, and Hindemith. A member of the church music and organ faculties at Westminster and an accomplished church musician, Dr. Brombaugh maintains an active performing career.

Organist Joan Lippincott will appear in recital on Wednesday, July 17, at 8:30 p.m. in Trinity Church, 33 Mercer Street. Miss Lippincott is head of the organ department at Westminster Choir College.

The final organ recital of the week will feature Eugene Roan, also a member of the Westminster Organ Department artist faculty. The recital will begin Thursday, July 18, at 7 p.m. in Bristol Chapel. Prof. Roan recently received the 1985 Westminster Alumni Merit award for his contributions to the teaching profession. Also an outstanding performer, Mr. Roan will present a program of early organ works.

The organ recitals are free and open to the public. For complete information on these and other classical music events, call 921-7100.

GALLERY RETURNS

To Its Original Location. After more than a decade, the Queenstown Gallery in Pennington has returned to its original location on South Main Street.

The gallery and frame shop was started in 1964 at 43 South Main Street by Rosemary Wetherell and George Koepfel, father of the present owner, Jack Koepfel. Jack spend his hours after school and during the summer learning the art of picture framing from his father.

After the business was sold in the early 1970s, Jack Koepfel continued to work at several other area frame shops. In 1976, he was named exhibit preparator at the New Jersey State Museum. While at the museum, he gained valuable experience in the fields of conservation framing and the specialized care of fine art and historical objects. During this time, he also attended many workshops, including one by the Smithsonian Institute in Washington D.C.

In 1981, Mr. Koepfel acquired a part interest in the Queenstown Shop where he developed contacts with many area historical sites. Two included special projects for the Old Barracks and the Trent House in Trenton. The shop also engaged in framing work, exhibit preparation and consulting for such area corporations as the Princeton Bank, Educational Testing Service and E.R. Squibb and Sons.

Last year, Mr. Koepfel purchased a full interest in the business and changed the name to Queenstown Gallery. Ever since, his goal has been to move the gallery back to the center of town.

In February, that goal moved closer to reality when the original location on South Main Street became available. Two weeks ago after months of planning and a hearing before the town's zoning board, Mr. Koepfel, with the help of many friends (he is a skilled carpenter and has done much of the renovation himself) moved the business back to its original home.

From father to son, from original location back home again, Queenstown Gallery had come full circle.

SPACE ART ON VIEW

At N.J. State Museum. More than 50 paintings and sketches by noted science fiction artists will be included in the exhibition, "Future Scapes: Space Art from the Association of Science Fiction Artists," at the New Jersey State Museum. The exhibition will be on view in the north gallery on the lower level through August 25.

Through the eyes of these artists, viewers will see other worlds, extraterrestrial beings, and alien cultures. The exhibition complements the Museum's Space Day II scheduled for Saturday, July 20.

Among the artists who will be included in the show is Charles Divine, who was born in Trenton. He graduated from Rutgers University with a degree in physics and did graduate work at Columbia University in psychology. He returned to Trenton in 1977 and has done photography work for Princeton Ballet and Princeton and Rutgers Universities, and is now senior photographer for the L5 Society. "Stardancers," exhibited in this show, was inspired by the movie of the same name.

Glen Allen Schofield of Roseland, a graduate of Pratt Institute where he majored in illustration, now works as a freelance illustrator. His work is included in this exhibition.

Vincent DiFate of Wappinger's Falls, N.Y., and Ron Walotsky of Long Beach, N.Y., will also have their work in the show. DiFate is noted for the book covers he did for The War of the Worlds by H.G. Wells and The Other Log of Phileas Fogg by Philip Farmer. Walotsky is noted for his book covers, magazine covers, and record album jackets.

The State Museum is open Tuesday through Saturday from 9 to 4:45, and Sunday from 1 to 5. It is closed Mondays and state holidays. Admission is free and ample weekend parking is available behind the Museum.

EXHIBITS

Watercolors by Jeane Nielsen will be on exhibit at the Montgomery National Bank, Route 518 in Rocky Hill, through August 10.

Ms. Nielsen studied painting with Leo Russell and is a member of the Hunterdon Arts Center.

The Medical Center at Princeton will feature watercolors by Bernice Kisaday Fatto of Millstone from July 16 through September 10.

Ms. Fatto, a graduate of The Pratt Institute, is a member of the Princeton Art Association and has been awarded ribbons and prizes for exhibitions in juried shows at McCarter Theatre, The Hunterdon Art Center, The New Jersey Watercolor Society, and Phillips Mill.

A member of the New Jersey Watercolor Society, her work is presently on exhibit at the Franklin State Bank in Millstone.

An opening reception will be held on Tuesday, July 16, from 4-6 p.m. in the Princeton Hospital Unit dining room. The public is invited.

BACK IN PLAYOFF RACE

Post 76 Wins 3 of 4. Winning three of four games last week, including a split with third-place Hightstown, Princeton Post 76 climbed back into the playoff race in the Mercer County American Legion Race.

"We're back in the playoff picture," confirmed Post manager Larry Bender. "People have found out they have got to take us seriously." For Bender, the final outcome still hangs on consistency — the vital ingredient that Post 76 has yet to attain.

"As I said from the very beginning," continued Bender, "this team can go as far as it wants to go. But when we play bad baseball, we aren't going to beat anybody. When we play well we have the talent to beat anybody in the league."

This week Post 76 will play the second of back-to-back games against Mitchell-Davis on Wednesday. Then it will face

SAFE AT HOME: Hightstown's Loren Lipker is safe at home in this second-inning play as Princeton Post catcher Craig Ender (18) tries to make tag. The Hightstown third baseman had singled, advanced to third on a throwing error and came home on Keith Beam's infield single to give the Post 148 team a 2-1 lead. The visitors went on to defeat Post 76, 6-1.

winless Lawrence Post 414 Friday at 7:30 and Saturday at 11 it will entertain Hightstown again at Strubing Field adjacent to Palmer Stadium.

"If we are going to be in the playoffs, these are the games we have to win," said Bender.

Even winless Lawrence has him concerned. "You know they are going to beat someone; it's bound to happen. I just hope it isn't against us."

Go Out and Have Fun. Before the start of Friday's game with visiting Hightstown, Bender gathered his team and told them, "This is the kind of game you've got to win. Go out and have fun. Don't worry about tomorrow; let's get this one."

As it turned out, Post 76's fun would come a day later.

On Saturday against Hightstown, Princeton combined eight stolen bases, three hits and three Hightstown errors for five runs — all in the first inning — en route to a 5-3 victory.

"We run. We did what we wanted to do, the defense did the rest and David (pitcher Dave Arendas tossed a 7-hitter for the 6½ innings he worked) pitched a good game." His team averages five or six stolen bases a game, reported Bender. "If we don't play aggressively, we lose."

Leadoff batter Gavin Hulsman led off the game with a walk and stole second and third. Mike Petrone walked and Hulsman came home with the first run when the two engineered a double steal.

win. Four of the victor's runs came off four Post 76 errors. All six runs were unearned.

Hightstown plated one run in the first on a single and an error but Princeton tied it at one in the same inning. Mike Petrone singled, stole second and went to third on a wild pitch. After Arendas walked, Bender singled to set up a favorite stratagem, the double steal. Petrone scored on the play.

Hightstown scored another run in the second, two more in the third, and its sixth run in the fourth. Three of the runs came home as a result of wild pitches.

2-For-2 Against Hopewell. Earlier in the week, Post 76 defeated Hopewell Post 329, 12-9, and 11-3 in back-to-back games.

On Thursday, Arendas pounded Hopewell into submission with a grand slam and a double, driving in six runs to enable Post 76 to overcome an 8-4 lead. The six RBIs gave Arendas 12 in the past three games. By week's end, the hard-hitting infielder was hitting .389 — ninth among the

After Arendas bounced out, third-baseman Darren Villani singled to make it, 2-0, and then stole second. His progress around the bases continued when catcher Jamie Lynch's throw ended up in centerfield, sending Villani to third. Villani's Odyssey was complete when the return throw from centerfielder Andy Beck to third was wild for another error, sending Villani home with the third run.

Post 76 was not through running nor was Hightstown's proclivity for throwing the ball away. With two down, Tom Foltyn, the sixth batter in the inning, walked, stole second, and came home when teammate Chuck McCall reached base on another Post 148 error.

McCall then scored the fifth and final run when he advanced on Craig Ender's single and the two baserunner's pulled another double steal.

Hightstown, which entered the game with an 11-4 record, scored two runs in the sixth off Arendas and might have scored more except for a fine defensive play by Villani at third. With runners on second and third and one out, Ed Vogel hit a high chopper to Villani who tagged Keith Beam, who was momentarily frozen off the bag, and then rifled to first for the double play.

In the last inning, Hightstown jammed the bases on two walks and an error but was down to its last out. Bender called on Mike Walker to get the final out. Walker walked in the third run but fanned the next batter to end it.

The previous day, it had been Princeton's turn to be guilty of sloppy play in the field, resulting in a 6-1 Hightstown border, where the 1st and 9th holes are in the United States, and the 2nd through the 8th holes are in Saskatchewan, Canada.

Who was the first baseball player ever to have the thrill of playing in the Little League World Series as a youngster — and then playing in the major league World Series as an adult? ... Answer is Boog Powell. Powell played in the Little League World Series with a team from Lakeland, Fla., in 1954 as a 12-year-old — and then played in the big league World Series with the Baltimore Orioles in 1966.

Mercer American Legion leaders.

After Hopewell had hatted back to tie the game at nine in the top of the sixth, Arendas answered with a two-run double that highlighted a three-run, game-winning Princeton rally in the bottom of the sixth.

Mike Walker (2-2) got the win while Ted Tuz took the loss for Hopewell. Arendas, Walker and Ender all had doubles in Princeton's 12-hit attack. Walker and McColl each drove in a pair of runs for the victors.

The previous day in Pennington, Post 76 teed off against Hopewell starter Chris Prophett for seven hits, including doubles by Walker and designated hitter Tim Rumer, for six runs in the first inning. Prophett did not last the inning.

Ender had a perfect night at the plate with a 4-for-4 performance while Arendas batted 3-for-3. The victors collected 13 hits in all off Prophett and three

FOR 4TH AND LAST TIME

Harvard Crew Beats Princeton. There was a notable "first" in another part of England last Sunday as unseeded 17-year old Boris Becker won at Wimbledon, but for Princeton's heavyweight crew, hoping for its first victory over Harvard this year and its first championship ever at the Henley Royal Regatta, it was the same old story.

After the first three races, each of which had been decided by less than a boat length, there was still some question as to which was the better heavyweight crew in 1985, Harvard or Princeton.

Sunday's race answered that once and for all.

Rowing in the finals of the Grand Challenge Cup, the Crimson blew the Tigers clear out of the water, winning by 3 1/2 lengths over the one and 5/16ths mile course. The defeat was by far the most lopsided of the four the coach Larry Gluckman's oarsmen have suffered at the hands of Harvard this spring.

The Orange and Black first lost to the Cantabs in the Compton Cup regatta in April, a second time in the Eastern Sprints at Worcester in May, and then by 47/100s of a second at the National Championships in Cincinnati last month. The Henley race gave the Tigers one final chance to prove themselves the better crew, but they came up far short.

In the first all-American final of the Grand Challenge Cup in the 146-year history of Henley, Harvard won for the fifth time. Its four previous victories had been in 1914, 1939, 1950 and 1959. No Princeton crew has ever won the cup.

The record crowds that lined the famed course on the Thames River saw what expected to be a tight race turn into a rout. Ahead at every marker, the Crimson steadily increased the margin between the two shells, and led by two lengths as it entered the Regatta Enclosure. It opened its lead another 1½ lengths by the time it crossed the finish line in a winning time of 6:27.

Gluckman commented that several of his oarsmen felt fatigued and didn't really respond when it was needed, possibly because of the tough race they had rowed in the semi-finals the day before. The Tigers had to sprint past the University of London in the closing stages of the race after trailing for the first mile.

In the quarter-final round on Friday, the Orange and Black scored a one-length victory over the Australian National Pre-Elite team. In contrast, Harvard was never pressured in its two heats. It beat the Danish National Lightweight squad by 4½ lengths and defeated Cambridge by 2½ lengths.

Lightweights Lose Also. Princeton's lightweight crew, competing in the Ladies' Challenge Plate also failed in its bid to come up a winner.

Racing in a semi-final heat, the Tigers lost by half a length to England's elite Leander Club. Leander then defeated Ireland's Garda Siochana Boat Club by six feet in the afternoon final.

Coach Gary Kilpatrick's rowers defeated the University of Bristol in a very close race Friday, and then knocked off a Temple University lightweight crew on Saturday.

Princeton's heavyweight four with coxswain was also outrowed in the semi-finals, losing a shot at the Prince Philip Cup when it was beaten by Thames Tradesmen and University of London's Tyrian boat.

The Tigers' lightweight four without coxswain lost in the first round to the top-rated Isis team from Oxford University.

SJC Back on Top. The Sweet Jersey Corn Women's softball team has completed a highly successful week by moving into sole possession of first place in the Mercer County Women's A League and by capturing its third consecutive United States Slo-pitch Softball Association's New Jersey championship.

This week in league play, SJC will face rival 3 Seasons Thursday at 6:30 on Field 2 at Mercer County Park.

In gaining its third state USSA title, Sweet Jersey Corn was undefeated in four games in the double elimination tournament. It has not lost a game in the three years it has been champion, compiling a 13-0 record.

The Corn started by blanking Miller Beer, 3-0, and then edged FVT Trucking, 1-0, in its second game, as Laura Johnson drove in Susan Positano with the game's only run.

In the winners' bracket final the Cornsters fell behind Eagle Electric, 3-0, before storming back to win, 9-4.

The championship game with FVT Trucking turned out to be the best game of the tournament. Once again, SJC fell behind, 3-0, but scored single runs in each of the next three innings to tie the score at 3 at the end of four innings.

After FVT scored a run in the fifth, the Corn responded with two in its half of the inning to take a 5-4 lead. The game continued to see-saw as FTV tied the game again at 5 only to have the Cornsters plate two more runs again to increase its margin to 7-5.

In the top of the last inning, FTV tied the score at 7 and when SJC failed this time to score the game went into extra innings. SJC pitcher Clare Baxter retired FVT in the eighth and in the bottom of the eighth, SJC won the game, 8-7, when, with the bases loaded and two outs, Dot Krumpfer drove in Grace Durland with the winning run.

Baxter was the winning pitcher in all four games for the victors and Diane Kelly connected for a homer in the title game. The Corn's Durland was named the tournament's Most Valuable Player.

With the win, Sweet Jersey Corn qualified to compete in the USSA Eastern World tourney to be held Labor Day weekend in Peabody, Mass.

In league play last week, SJC defeated Keystone Fabricating, 7-2, behind the pitching of Baxter and the hitting of Debbie Smyth, Beth Ault and Durland, each of whom had two hits.

The win, coupled with S&W

Liquors' 7-4 upset over first-place Grove Plumbing, moved the Corn into first place ahead of Grove by a half-game.

PRINCETON ELIMINATED

From Babe Ruth Tournament. Princeton was eliminated from the District 1 Babe Ruth League tournament Monday night when it was shut out by Ewing, 11-0.

Ewing pitcher Dean Wylie limited Princeton to just two hits and benefitted from some loose play in the field by the losers, who were guilty of five errors.

Ewing scored three runs in the first off losing pitcher Tim Rumer, built its lead to 6-0 and added five more runs in the sixth to put the game out of reach.

The previous day, Princeton had stayed alive in the double elimination tourney by eliminating Lawrence, 10-4.

This time it was Princeton which plated three runs in the first as Bill Byrne connected for a two-run double to highlight the rally. In the second inning, Rumer sent three more runs home when he cleared the bases with a single. Byrne, who like Rumer also plays for the Princeton Post 76 Legion team, knocked in his third run of the game in the seventh with a single.

Darius Young got the win.

ANDY'S, CONTE'S TIED

For Softball Lead. Andy's Tavern and Conte-Staats remained tied for the lead in the Princeton Recreation Men's Softball League by posting victories last week. Each has a 12-2 record, while Mike's Tavern and PIASC are tied at 8-6.

Andy's pushed its winning streak to seven in a row by coming from behind to defeat Princeton Italian American Sportsmen Club, 9-6. Trailing 6-2 in the fifth inning, Andy's erupted for seven runs — all with two outs off losing pitcher Mario DiVincenzi. Andy's combined singles by winning pitcher Jeff Grover, Scott Porreca, Jack Petrone, Dave Shillaber, Mike Shillaber, Steve Simcox and Kevin Phox a walk and an error for its big inning.

Conte-Staats kept pace with a 6-1 victory over Hinkson's Stationery. Trailing by one run, Conte's took charge in the second inning when Richie Volz's three-run homer highlighted a four-run rally. Conte's added single runs in the fourth and sixth innings.

In games Thursday at Community Park, Conte's will oppose OMR, Andy's will face C Square C, Mike's will take on PIASC and Hinkson's meets Micawber Books. All games begin at 6:15.

Biography

professional life, manifestly expanded the expected Victorian woman's role beyond the bounds of domesticity. Editor, counselor, teacher, politician, artist, landscape designer, and latent feminist, she read widely in the classics, literature, art, philosophy, history and political topics.

"Facile in language, she translated German monographs for Wilson to use in his scholarly writings, and she broadened his cultural background. While she helped her husband politically, she pursued her own career as an artist. She insisted that her three daughters be trained to earn a living rather than be dependent upon a husband for financial security."

Kindred Spirit. Frances Saunders was also born in the south, in Virginia, where, she says, the most that was expected of a girl by way of a career was to teach school, and preferably to teach English. She attended Madison College, then a state teacher's college that has since become James Madison University, but being something of a rebel, and as adept at the sciences as she was at the humanities, she took the suggestion of a chemistry professor and accepted a fellowship in chemistry available at the University of North Carolina.

"But my first love was English literature," she acknowledges, and she also always loved history and art history. In Ellen Axson Wilson, all those strands came together, aided by her grounding in scientific training which taught her to check facts and be very sure of details, to produce this book.

Now that the Wilson biography is out, Mrs. Saunders has turned again to the south and to writing the biography of novelist Ellen Glasgow. There is not the wealth of good primary material that she was able to use for the Ellen Wilson biography, but the subject has its own interest.

Ellen Glasgow also went against the southern grain by leading an intellectual life, but she did not marry. Ellen Wilson was unusual, Mrs. Saunders thinks, in being able to bridge an intellectual life and married life. However, Ellen Glasgow wrote about topics such as miscegenation, incest and illegitimate birth, topics which women weren't supposed to know about, and which Faulkner would later treat and to far greater fame.
